

Additional Tours

Tours other than The Tragical History Tour and The Helter Skelter Tour (those listed below) are offered on an irregular basis. Check dearlydepartedtours.com for upcoming dates.

- Horror Film Location Tour

Every year during the Halloween season, Dearly Departed offers a spooky tour of famous horror film locations hosted by a guide in full Michael Myers costume. Iconic film locations include: Invasion of the Body Snatchers, A Nightmare on Elm Street, Michael Jackson's Thriller, Zombieland, Scream 2, Ed Wood, Drag Me to Hell, and Halloween – both the John Carpenter and Rob Zombie versions. Guests will also visit two Halloween film locations where they will recreate iconic moments from the 1978 film, as well as visit the home where Dracula's Bela Lugosi died and receive a copy of his death certificate.

- The Karen CarpenTour

On February 4, 1983, beloved songbird Karen Carpenter became a star in heaven. To commemorate the anniversary of her passing, once a year, on Super Bowl Sunday, Dearly Departed offers a tour of Karen Carpenter locations across Southern California. Sites visited include the Carpenters' favorite L.A. haunts, the Downey home purchased for their parents where Karen collapsed the morning of her death, the locations of Carpenter's last meal, hospital visit, and funeral, and the Thousand Oaks cemetery where she now resides. A portion of each ticket for this tour goes to the National Eating Disorders Association.

- L.A. Rock 'N Roll Circus Tour

Presented in partnership with L.A. Woman Tours

Celebrating the music that came out of L.A. and its enduring legacy, this tour gives music fans the chance to visit the sites where their favorite rock stars performed, recorded, slept, and threw TVs out of windows. Featuring artists including The Doors, The Mamas & the Papas, Frank Zappa, Van Halen, Motley Crue, The Go-Go's, Love, The Runaways, The Monkees, Led Zeppelin, The Flying Burrito Brothers, The Byrds, John Lennon, Harry Nilsson, Buffalo Springfield, and more, this isn't a wide-eyed and innocent tour. This is it, sparkles, warts, mayhem, and all.

- Marilyn Monroe's Hollywood

Presented in partnership with L.A. Woman Tours

As a child, Norma Jean Baker dreamed of becoming a movie star. Instead, she became the most legendary of all movie stars, born, raised, living, and dying right here in Los Angeles. This rare and definitive tour of Marilyn's family, romantic, and professional life will make sure to clear up a lot of legends, rumors, and flat-out wrong information about perhaps the most iconic and tragic star.

- Nastie Nellie Oleson Tour

Take a tour with Alison Arnglim – nasty Nellie Oleson from “Little House on the Prairie” – and learn what it was like to grow up as a child actor in Hollywood. From attending elementary school with Michael Jackson to tales about Liberace, Paris Hilton, and the Manson Family, Arnglim has seen it all and wants to tell you about it! Tour includes Q&A, an autographed photo, and your very own photo op – so make sure to bring your camera or phone!

- Strange Days: A Journey Through The Doors' L.A.

Presented in partnership with L.A. Woman Tours

In the mid- to late-1960s, Los Angeles was the epicenter of a musical and cultural revolution. One of countless groups performing along the world-famous Sunset Strip, The Doors “broke on through” from the L.A. scene to become one of the biggest bands in the world. See how it all went down on this definitive and one-of-a-kind tour.
